SUMMARY

I'm a Frontend Developer, ready to put my talents to use. I keep my ambitions simple; keep learning, become more versatile each day. Some technologies I prefer to use are: React, TypeScript, Jest (with React Testing Library) and Sass. Though by my work experience I might not look like a first choice for web development, I'm grateful that path led me back to my passion. The project showcase to the right is outdated by now. As I focused more time on work and improving skills that helped me be more efficient at it. Recently (emphasis on recently :)) I started blogging about frontend and work domain related topics.
